UK photographic exhibition: Images of War

28 November 2008

The WSWS spoke to staff members at the nine galleries and museums presenting the exhibition Memory of Fire: the War of Images and Images of War. The exhibition raised many issues concerning the nature of war and its representation, the decline of photojournalism and the role of the embedded photographer. See Brighton Biennial exhibition focuses on war photography for the written report.

To contact the WSWS and the Socialist Equality Party visit:

wsws.org/contact

© World Socialist Web Site