Mehring Books, the English-language bookseller and publisher associated with the International Committee of the Fourth International, is launching today a redesigned web site that will make its large library of Marxist and socialist literature more accessible than ever. The site lists more than 140 titles and features an improved shopping cart and search function.

The changes are a response to growing interest in Marxist historical, political and social analysis. The new site makes it easy to find books, including with an author, title or keyword search. The entire library is accessible through the “browse our catalog” tab.

Mehring Books has added many works by Trotsky and other Marxist writers. New titles and special offers will be added regularly, and announced through a new email newsletter.
