Jerry White
8 September 2012

In this multi-media presentation, US Socialist Equality Party presidential candidate Jerry White reports on his recent trip to Sri Lanka where he addressed well-attended public meetings in Colombo, Kegalle and Galle.

White reviews some of the discussion that he had with rubber plantation workers and youth in Kegalle, the high levels of exploitation of Sri Lankan workers, and the political significance of the SEP's struggle to unify the international working class on a socialist program. The SEP presidential candidate's visit to Sri Lanka is part of an international tour that includes Germany and Britain.
