

Two days only: Sky Between the Leaves now $14.50

12 December 2013

For 48 hours, Mehring Books is selling The Sky Between the Leaves: Film reviews, essays and interviews 1992-2012 by World Socialist Web Site Art and Culture Editor David Walsh for the discounted price of $14.50. The sale begins at 12:00 midnight EST December 12. We are also offering free shipping to US residents.

This is a great opportunity to purchase the book for yourself, or to buy extra copies for family and friends for the holidays. The Sky Between the Leaves provides an uncompromising Marxist analysis of the problems confronting contemporary filmmaking. It contains reviews of a wide range of films by both well-known and lesser-known artists, as well as interviews with filmmakers and essays on art, culture and socialism.

Walsh's writings are widely respected for their penetrating analysis, bringing to the critique of art and filmmaking the power of the Marxist method and the immense experiences of the working class movement. They are the product of the concentrated work on culture by the International Committee of the Fourth International in the wake of the 1992 collapse of the Soviet Union. Since that time Walsh has played a leading role in writing for the World Socialist Web Site and its forerunner, the International Workers Bulletin.

As a bonus to those who sign up for the Mehring Books e-mail newsletter at www.mehring.com (right column), we are offering a coupon for $5 off your next purchase of $35 or more at Mehring online.
