

WSWS publishes Chinese translation of “800,000 COVID-19 deaths in Europe: capitalism, social murder and the case for socialism”

1 April 2021

The World Socialist Web Site is publishing today in Chinese “800,000 COVID-19 deaths in Europe: capitalism, social murder and the case for socialism.”

Written by Alex Lantier and originally published on February 25 in English, the article reviews how the political representatives of the financial elite have condemned hundreds of thousands to death from COVID-19. Lantier powerfully explains why the fight against the pandemic requires the political mobilization of the working class against capitalism, based on a socialist and international program.

We invite feedback from Chinese readers.
