The Socialist Equality Party hosted a second town hall meeting with the party's candidate in the California gubernatorial election, David Moore, on Saturday, September 11.

Moore, a special education teacher from Oakland, California, urged workers and youth to mobilize to defend lives by fighting for a strategy to eradicate COVID-19. The candidate presented a strategy and answered many questions from teachers, students, healthcare and other workers. The event was moderated by the SEP's vice presidential candidate in 2020, Norissa Santa Cruz.
