

Video: The social crisis facing young people and the fight against Australia's anti-democratic electoral laws

Our reporters
28 October 2021

The International Students for Social Equality (IYSSE) is participating with the Socialist Equality Party (SEP) to defeat anti-democratic electoral laws rushed through the Australian parliament on August 26.

The legislation threatens the SEP and 35 other political parties with deregistration, meaning they cannot run under their party name in elections, unless they submit a list of 1,500 members by December 2, treble the previous number.

In this video, members of the IYSSE, the youth and student wing of the SEP, place the laws within the context of the social conditions facing young people. They explain that a central aim of the legislation is to suppress the widespread social and political opposition of the youth, and to prevent it finding any political expression.

As part of the campaign to defeat these laws the SEP is holding an online public meeting on Sunday October 31 at 1 p.m. (AEDT) entitled, "A socialist program to eliminate COVID-19: Become an electoral member of the SEP today!" Click here to register.

To join the SEP campaign against the legislation, sign-up as an electoral member today.

To contact the WSWs and the Socialist Equality Party visit:

wsws.org/contact