

Chicago workers speak out against ICE neighborhood arrests

Mass deportation efforts labeled Operation Midway Blitz have continued in Chicago since September with no end in sight. More than 3,000 people have been kidnapped from the metro area in the last two months.

ICE thugs using unmarked trucks and vans drive up to workers. Armed, masked men with no identification or warrants leap out to wrestle workers to the ground on their job sites, in retail stores and on parking lots, throwing them into vehicles and taking them to detention centers.

This weekend, reporters with the World Socialist Web Site spoke to workers and young people in the Chicago neighborhoods being targeted by ICE, as well as Ford workers at the Chicago Assembly Plant.
